

Sue Tubolino

Sue Tubolino began dancing at age four with studios in the Rochester area. She later trained with David DiMarie in Clarence, NY and under Lisa Snape Avery in classical ballet.

She began instructing in 1984. She and her husband directed and managed a small studio in the city for five years before she came to the Performance Plus family in 1994.

One highlight was working under Miss Barbara Ciavarri to stage the children's performances with the Russian Nutcracker in 2008.

Sue's expertise lies with younger children's base skills and with the upper levels of the recreational department which she has headed for ten years.

She truly loves sharing her art with her students.

Sue and her husband Dom have two children. Dominick, age 25, enjoys assisting backstage with each year's performances. Monica, age 13, loves to dance. They have made their home in Greece for 12 years.
